16 KOO-HOOT KIWAT: The Caddo Grass House is a half-hour program that chronicles the building of a traditional Caddo grass house on the grounds of Caddo Mounds State Historic Site in East Texas. A Caddo tribal elder and his apprentice return to their ancestral homeland to direct a group of enthusiastic local volunteers in the design and construction of the grass house. Phil Cross, the Caddo elder and project architect, is perhaps the last of his tribe with the knowledge of this nearly-forgotten practice. By building the house on the land of his ancestors he is passing his knowledge on for the next generations and beyond. The program documents the process that combines both traditional and modern techniques, using raw materials collected from the nearby Davy Crockett National Forest.
November 16 at 7:30 pm; November 19 at 11 pm

What do science lessons and family bonding have in common? For Patrick, Lucinda and Naomi Stanton, the connection comes from their time together at the Ruff Ruffman Family & Community Learning workshop.

The Stantons participated in this four week series along with other area families. Designed to spark STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) interest in young children, the workshop also empowers parents like Patrick and Lucinda to support their child's education both at school and home.

“With the four weeks of science projects and doing things and meeting different people, Naomi learned a lot. It was awesome!” Patrick’s observation of his daughter’s time at the Ruff Ruffman workshop is a testament to what a valuable experience these sessions are for kids and parents alike.
